The Editors' Convention.

The following account of the assemblage of the "Knights of the Quill" is from the Decatur Magnet, edited by James Shoaff, brother of P. L. Shoaff. It is somewhat lengthy for our columns, but is so replete with wit, and exhibits the peculiar characteristics of the numerous writers of the press in the interior of America, that we cannot refrain from giving it a place in our paper. The writer commences with a lengthy account of his trip, from which we only clip the following:

Monday evening, January 7th, we jumped aboard the train on the T., W. & W. R. R., and in two hours thereafter we were one of Jim Sponsler's guests, at his popular hotel, Springfield. Some twenty other knights of the quill accompanied us. At an early hour, say 12 o'clock, we retired to our bed-room, not far from Bill Usrey and the saloon. We were awakened early next morning by a friend. In fact we knew he was a friend, simply from the remark he made when he entered, and still more when a waiter entered with four glasses of—no matter what—with our friend's compliments.

Tuesday at 2 o'clock the Editorial Convention met at Bryant, Stratton & Bell's Commercial College, where, before 12 o'clock M., nearly one hundred editors were assembled. Of the proceedings of the Convention we might particularize, but we deem it unnecessary. We will state, however, that Hon. John W. Merrett, editor of the State Register, who officiated with so much credit to himself and the Convention, was re-elected President for the present year, and E. H. Griggs, Esq., of Rockford, was re-elected Secretary.

The following canvass on the merits of the "fraternity," is exceedingly funny:

Owing to the want of space we are obliged to set our editorial brethren off with a short fuse this time, however much we may desire to dwell upon their many virtues! They will, of course, excuse the brevity of the following lightning strokes:

Charles Wilson of the Chicago Journal, conducted himself creditably, indeed, considering the "influences" surrounding him.

Governor Crandall was not at the convention.

Steele "departed" on the second day of the feast, with his pockets full of dough-nuts and molasses candy.

Alexander, of the Linch-pin Gazette, with the aid of Stanley, kept duly sober.

Brown, of Galena, did not change his color.

Bailey, of the Princeton Republican, did a great deal of "smiling"—and so did Governor Oglesby.

Latshaw, of the Valley Times, slept with us one night at the St. Nicholas. Lord! how he kicks and snores.

Bill Usrey took Mosser with him to keep him straight, furnish him with tobacco and "correspond" with the Gazette. Mosser had his hands full.

Miller, of "ye Tribune" in this city, enjoyed the feast hugely.

Langdon, Quincy Whig, entertained the lady visitor.

Bailey, Jacksonville Sentinel, flew around like a—frog in a skillet—and smoked!

Crosby, of the Wenona Index, was not there. He had the—headache.

Edwards, the Bunker Hill man, corresponded with the blind and talked with the mutes, at Jacksonville.

The editores of the Pana papers wore spectacles and carried canes.

The message entitled "The Country Merchant's Visit to New York City," was ordered to its second reading by Flynn, of the Champaign Gazette.

The editors of the Charleston and Mattoon papers were not present; staid at home to abuse each other.

The corresponding editor of the Chicago Times, ate five meals in Jacksonville—got sick, and was too full to make a report.

Snell, of the Springfield Journal, we are happy to announce, was duly sober.

The Morris editors had the small-pox, which accounts for their absence.

John James Smith's local was present. The Courier was well represented.

The Independent man, at Monticello, in consequence of failing to make connections, was not in attendance.

Tom Sharp, Clinton Times, started for the scene of action, but fell by the wayside.

Dowdall, of the Democrat, Peoria, no one recognized; he had no moustache. But he received an appointment while in Springfield.

Old Mr. Merrett, the President, and Griggs, the Secretary, received all the thanks.

Baker, of the Journal, and the Merrit boys, of the Register, did not accompany the editors to Jacksonville. Domestic affairs kept them at home.

Cy. Fletcher, Centralia Sentinel, behaved himself very well. When he reached home he had a five cent currency in his pocket.

Rev. Mr. Hammond, of the Danville Commercial, is a very modest man. He came near starving to death in Jacksonville.

Our particular attention was given to Ballard, of the DuQuoin Recorder. He roomed with us, and had we not taken him under our wing, we cannot say what would have become of him.

Colonel Smith, of the Jacksonville Journal, had his hands full in keeping his brethren of the quill in the path of duty. Ironmonger didn't show himself; it was too cold. Charley Eames, local of the same paper, ditto; had an engagement with—a lady contributor.

Kimball, of the Carlinville Democrat, we are sorry to say, was sick, brought on by eating too much at the Blind Asylum.

Flynn, of the Carlinville Spectator, was quite conspicuous, especially at Strawn's ball, when he replied to General Brayman's excellent speech.

Summers, of the Homer Journal, did credit to that paper—more so than did its former editor when at Decatur.

C. L. Smith, of the Princeton Patriot, is a good looking man, and the ladies occupied a large portion of his time.

B. K. Durfee, of the Decatur Advertiser, somehow or other, did not show his smiling countenance in the Convention. He was at the ball, however.

B. C. Braden, of the Joliet Republican, had the mumps and couldn't go the rounds. Sorry.

Livingston, of the Bement Courier, was in the dance, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, did not go with us to Jacksonville.

Taft, of the Salem Advocate, [illegible] Resolutions—"in a horn."

Spencer.—It was almost [illegible] Mosser, of the Gazette, [illegible] Jacksonville. He was [illegible] friend in that [illegible] not know us much or [illegible]

The Pursuit and Arrest of Surratt.

The arrest in Egypt of John H. Surratt, one of the conspirators to assassinate the late President Lincoln, is one of the most remarkable events in the history of crime. For two long years has he wandered up and down the earth, not only haunted by his guilty conscience, but pursued and tracked through all disguises by the Government, whose laws he had offended. Immediately after the assassination he fled to Canada, thence across the broad ocean to Liverpool, and finally took refuge as a zouave soldier in the army of the Pope of Rome. Finding himself discovered and arrested, he broke from his pursuers, fled to Naples, and thence to Egypt, by way of the Island of Malta.

The diplomatic correspondence recently transmitted to Congress by the President, discloses one of the most remarkable and finally successful pursuits of a fugitive from justice on record. But it discloses some other things which are worthy of note. Notwithstanding our country has no extradition treaty with Rome, and that Government was not bound to deliver up the fugitive, as soon as our Minister, Hon. Rufus King, made known the facts of the case, the Pope caused Surratt to be arrested, and, if he had not escaped by jumping over a yawning precipice, would have given him up to be brought to the United States for trial. So, too, at Naples our Consul reports that the Italian Government of Victor Emanuel rendered every facility towards the arrest of the criminal. Even the Viceroy of Egypt lent his friendly aid to assist in securing the fugitive, and when he was discovered at Alexandria, gave him up to be dealt with by our laws. But one nation seems to have halted in this international courtesy. All alike recognized the enormity of the crime with which Surratt was charged, viz: complicity in the assassination of the head of the Government of the United States, except only England. That country which, during our entire civil war, winked at the notorious violation of the neutrality laws, sent out on the ocean the piratical marauding Alabamas and Floridas, and gave the rebels all the aid and comfort possible, without risking a war, refused to discharge itself fairly of its international obligations in the matter of Surratt. All through the long chase after the criminal the duplicity and backwardness of English officials are apparent. Our Minister, Mr. Adams, all the time that Surratt was in Liverpool, had evidence of the fact, but understanding the Government with which he would have to deal, did not dare make the demand, although we have an extradition treaty, whereby England is bound to give up such criminals. So the fugitive was permitted to escape, and if we had had to rely upon British sense of justice, good faith, and comity, he might still be at large. That we do not misstate or overstate this matter, and to show on what flimsy pretexts English officials sought to throw obstacles in the way of our Government, the following, which we find in our Eastern exchanges, cannot fail to show. Among the papers transmitted to Congress by the President, in relation to the pursuit and arrest of Surratt, is the correspondence between our Consul at Malta, Mr. Winthrop, and the Government of that Island, which is a dependency of England. It will be remembered that Surratt, escaping from the Pope's officers, found his way to Naples and took passage in the steamer Tripoli for Egypt. Our Minister at Rome telegraphed to Malta the fact. The following extract from the Washington correspondence of the New York Times tells the rest:

Mr. Winthrop, it appears, on hearing that the steamer Tripoli was nearly ready to sail for Alexandria, asked the Government for assistance to arrest Surratt. The Governor replied by saying that a conspiracy to commit murder is not among the offences included in 6 and 7 of Victoria, chapter 76, unless murder was intended or an assault was committed with intent to do murder, or it was actually perpetrated, so as to make the person responsible for these crimes. Beside there was no evidence to show that the suspected person was actually John H. Surratt. The Governor called in the aid of the police and informed Mr. Winthrop that no such man was on board the Tripoli which stopped at Malta to coal. Mr. Winthrop failing in his object, sent a telegram to our Consul General at Alexandria, by the way of Constantinople, as follows: "Arrest Surratt, conspirator, a passenger on steamer Tripoli, now leaving Malta. Dress, Roman Zouaves; name Walters or Watson."

The arrest was duly made, as is already known, and the prisoner was placed on the United States corvette Swatara.

Not satisfied with discovering a ridiculous technicality in the treaty and the English law, the Governor attempts to throw dust in our Consul's eyes by informing him that Surratt was not on board the steamer. How much credence our active Consul placed in that statement may be judged from the telegram sent to the Consul at Alexandria, and how much truth there was in the British Governor's statement is manifest from the arrest of Surratt on the arrival of the Tripoli at that place.

Despite Seward, the fugitive is now en route to the United States, and we shall probably hear of his arrival in Washington in a few days. His trial is expected to throw much light on the dark mystery still surrounding the assassination of Lincoln, and it is to be hoped will aid in bringing the guilty to justice and condign punishment. It will probably do much, either to fix or relieve the Rebel Government at Richmond of the odium of complicity in the cruel assassination.

That Special Order.

We have been requested to publish the following statement by a well known and responsible gentleman of this community, whose position and standing are sufficient guarantee of the truth of what he states, and who now has in his possession the original Special Order, a copy of which was referred to by General Connor in his testimony before the Congressional Committee. The name of our correspondent is at the service of any proper person, and for any proper purpose, on application at this office:

The Salt Lake Daily Telegraph of February 1, 1867, contains a lengthy editorial article under the following caption: "An Infamous Forgery—A Base Fabrication." And this editorial designates and cites, as that to which the language thus quoted applies, the following "Special Order:"

"Salt Lake City, April 9, 1858.

"The officer in command of escort, is hereby ordered to see that every man is well prepared with ammunition, and have it ready at the time you see those teamsters a hundred miles from the settlements. President Young advises that they should all be killed, to prevent them from returning to Fort Bridger, to join our enemies. Every precaution should be taken to see that no one escapes. Secrecy is required.

"By order of General D. H. Wells.

"JAMES FERGUSON,
"Assistant Adjutant General."

Fairness and truth, it is submitted, require the publication of the subjoined statement:

First. General Connor did not submit this "Special Order" to Congress, nor to any member of it. It was shown to the House Territorial Committee, and to many other members of Congress and officers of the Federal Government, by another person. It never has been in the hands of General Connor longer than necessary for its perusal.

Second. This "Special Order" is now in possession of a Federal officer in Great Salt Lake City, and can be seen at any time. Its hand-writing is convincing evidence of its having been produced by Mr. Ferguson. Appended to it are two affidavits, by persons who knew Mr. Ferguson, his hand-writing and official character perfectly well, and who thus testify its genuiness.

This "Special Order" was delivered by a leading Bishop, then as now, an adopted son of "President Young," to a man still living, and to whom the "escort" referred to was assigned, with strict orders for its literal execution. This man was subsequently stripped of his property, his family driven from its humble home, his own life frequently since, and now occasionally, threatened for his disobedience in sparing "those teamsters." For this reason, and no other, he has been fired at and wounded, within three years, in the outskirts of Great Salt Lake City.

The "teamsters" referred to in this "Special Order," were about eighty unarmed men, who were leaving Fort Bridger, and the United States army forever, and were about returning through this Territory to their respective homes in and by way of California.

The "Special Order" itself, "the officer in command of escort," and the men composing that body, or many of them, doubtless, can be produced, by any one, Mormon or Gentile, who desires to hasten judicial investigation of this grave question.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE "DAILY UNION VEDETTE."]

New York, January 31.

The Herald's Richmond correspondence says the impeachment of the President is regarded as a fixed thing among the people generally, although some allege that it will certainly lead to another disastrous revolution. Movements are on foot to appoint persons, by the various Southern Legislatures, whose duty it shall be to remain in Washington and bring before the Supreme Court all Acts of Congress affecting the interests of the South, in order that they may be pronounced unconstitutional.

The Tribune's special says that Commissioner Rollins was in conference with the Committee on Ways and Means, to-day, in regard to the Internal Revenue Tax bill. The committee thus far has passed upon but few articles which it is proposed to put into the list. The Commissioner informed them that there was a great falling off of revenue receipts within the last sixty days, and from present indications it was likely to diminish still more during the next six or nine months, on account of the general stagnation of business. The Committee have therefore determined not to pass upon any articles until they get the Tariff bill, and then, likely, but little if any reduction will be made on leading articles. The sub-committee are still engaged in examining into the whisky tax; it will be some days before they will be ready to report. Commissioner Rollins is in conference with them every evening. He is opposed to making reductions at present. He favors stringent legislation, believing it will put a stop to frauds. The Committee, however, are very much divided on the question, and it is uncertain what they will recommend.

The Times's special says some idea may be formed of the frauds perpetrated by smugglers, from the fact that the special agent sent to the frontier to investigate them, was able to make arrangements with twenty-two custom officers, out of twenty-three, in one District, for smuggling goods into the United States.

The President has nominated to the Senate, Hon. R. H. Hulburt to be Controller of Currency.

The Committee on Ways and Means have added tanned leather to the free list.

The Tribune's special says: Quite a number of leading Southern men in Washington are arranging a new plan of adjustment, which has been approved by a number of Republican members. It is based upon the Constitutional Amendment.

One of the most important cases yet presented to the Court of Claims, is that for two million dollars damages against the Government, for the seizure by the War Department, in 1856, of a large tract of land at the cascades of Columbia river, in Washington Territory, since occupied as a Military post. The land, it is claimed, belonged to George W. Johnson.

It may be safely asserted that, notwithstanding the voluminous testimony taken by the special committee to investigate the New Orleans riots, but few additional facts have been developed. The Chairman is already making up his report, which will, of course, be made to reflect severely on the President. It will state, however, that the committee do not propose to recommend the impeachment of the President.

New York, January 31.

The Henry Chauncey, from Aspinwall, with California dates to the 10th inst., has arrived, bringing $1,700,000 in gold.

Advices from Valparaiso state that the Allied fleet was there. It was rumored that the Spanish Admiral would sail with all his ships for the Faulkland Islands. It was also reported that Spain would establish a naval station at Montevideo.

The Brazilian army had gained an advantage over 6,000 revolutionists in Mendoza.

The Peruvian Government has granted a commisson to some Americans for the construction of a Government road from Lima to Callao.

It is probable that Burton, Consul to Bogota, would receive an apology from the Government for offensive language used by one of the President's Generals.

A party of American engineers are at Panama preparing for a survey of the Isthmus of Darian for the construction of a ship canal.

Washington, January 31.

In the Senate a motion was made that Sumner's resolution be adopted, calling on the President for any correspondence between the Department and foreign Ministers on the policy of the administration towards the rebellious States, and of any inquiries based on the conversation he reported to the State Department.

On motion of Conness, the Secretary of the Treasury was asked as to the advisability of a reciprocity treaty with the Sandwich Islands.

The tariff bill was taken up. Turkey asked an increase of ¼ cent per pound on chromate and bichromate of potassa, making the duty 4½ cents per pound.

In the House, Trowbridge, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported by privilege a preamble, stating that the bill to repeal the Amnesty powers of the President, and to regulate franchise in the Territories of the United States, became a law by the failure of the President to sign or return it with his objections; concluding with a resolution, asking the Secretary of State to inform the House whether said laws have been filed in his Department. Adopted.

The reorganizing of the Indian Bureau was debated at considerable length, and amended by transferring the Bureau to the War Department by a vote of 76 to 73. Bill passed 90 to 53.

New York, January 31.

A better feeling existed in financial circles to-day. The disposition to sell was less marked. Stocks opened dull and drooping, but improved at the regular boards. Governments quiet.

Additional Senate—The duty on woolen goods of less value than one dollar is fixed at 45¾ per cent. ad valorem; when valued at less than one dollar and a half per pound at 40 per cent. ad valorem.

On motion of Sherman the railroad companies were authorized importation for their roads for two years. This provision is for the benefit of the Pacific Railroad, which, by existing laws, is compelled to use American iron.

On motion of Sprague, animals imported exclusively for breeding were placed on the free list.

Additional House—A memorial was presented from 600 citizens of Virginia for setting aside the State Government and establishing provisional Government. Referred.

McRuer introduced a bill to authorize the establishment of an ocean mail steamship service between the United States and the Sandwich Islands. Referred. Adjourned.

In the amendments to the Internal Revenue law, now under consideration by the Ways and Means Committee, there are probably many articles which will benefit agriculturists and others, which will be exempt from tax, such as salt, butter and cheese made by associated enterprise.

Mejia, of Juarez army, bearer of dispatches to Washington, has arrived here.

The French have ceased to fight the Liberals, and do not interfere in the battles between the Imperialists and Liberals. The Liberals are gathering in the Valley of Mexico, and will soon number 10,000.

New York, February 1.

The Herald's Panama correspondent says the Panama Railroad Company will probably succeed in buying a renewal of their charter, when they will begin the extension of their road to the island.

The Herald's Santiago correspondence of January 2d, says the foreign mediation between the allied Republics and Spain has been definitely rejected, and a vigorous prosecution of the war has been determined upon. The mediation, on the part of the United States, is looked forward to amicably, and it is believed a proposition from that quarter would be accepted.

The Chilian Government has received reliable information that Spain is making every preparation for war, and would reinforce the naval division of Rio Janeiro. Valparaiso is rapidly becoming impregnable. The allied fleet is being made ready for an expedition.

The revolution in Mendoza has assumed alarming proportions, and it is thought the revolutionary army would succeed. In that case a general uprising would take place, and the war of the triple alliance against Paraguay would be ingloriously ended.

The United States steamer Lancaster is reported foundered off Cape Horn.

New York, February 1.

The Fenian leaders of this city advertise for a sale of 2,000 arms, principally muskets and Springfield rifles, all ready for instant use.

The Times' special says the President's new plan of adjustment, based on qualified suffrage and amnesty, of which mention was made a few days since, has been further matured and discussed. It is somewhat modified in details, and the prospect of its adoption by the Administration is almost certain.

The Herald's special says it is reported the House Committee on whisky and brandy have concluded their report, and will repeal so much of the law as relates to distilleries, and tax them on the capacity of their stills.

The Tribune's special says the person who wrote the letter concerning Mr. Motley is an agent of Seward's, and is now an applicant for place, Adams, Marsh and other Ministers, it is expected, will not remain silent under the implied rebuke of Seward's letter.

The New Orleans Riot Committee have closed their investigation, and are now at work the report, which will not be completed for several days.

The Herald's New Orleans special says it is understood that if the Legislature passes the bill for a new Constitution over the veto of Governor Wells, he will issue a proclamation declaring the convention of 1864 legal, and reassembling it. The Radicals are organizing a grand army of the Republic all over the State, and a conflict between the Radicals and ex-Confederates is not improbable.

ADDRESS

TO THE VOTERS OF UTAH.

Having been placed before the voters of this Territory as a candidate for Delegate in Congress, on the 29th ult., by a Convention held in this city, and which avowed itself in favor of free speech and free press, political and religious toleration in Utah, and the support of the Constitution of the United States, the Organic Act of the Territory, and the laws of Congress, I shall cheerfully make the canvass and pin my political faith to the sound principles and views put forth in that Convention.

Now that I am in the field, it can be considered no breach of modesty to say that I expect every qualified voter in the Territory, who approves and indorses the views of that Convention, will cast his ballot for me on Monday next, to represent Utah in the next Congress as its Delegate; those who are opposed to the republican sentiments there set forth I shall most certainly expect to vote against me, as I do not desire to be the exponent of their views in the Council of the Nation, or anywhere else.

While soliciting the suffrage of the free and independent elector, I expect no man to cast his vote for me through any misapprehension of my views, and in order that I may be clearly, fully, openly, and intelligibly understood by all, I propose to define my position as well as my humble ability will permit.

I am opposed to the political system which has heretofore obtained in Utah as being wrong in principle and injurious in practice. That system sooner or later must wane before the genious of our free republican form of government, and a beginning may as well be made now as at any future time. We all have been taught that the American Government is a government of majorities, that its people are equals before the law, and that minorities have rights which majorities are bound to respect. It is made the duty of the General Government in the great charter of American liberty to guarantee to each State a republican form of government. In all National, State and Territorial elections—Utah excepted—the citizens attach themselves to political parties, widely differing in policy, and through the medium of the press and the rostrum, interchange views on all questions of political value, and after comparing their neighbors' views and contrasting them with their own, they submit, at stated times by law enacted, the questions at issue to the arbitrament of the majority, and abide its decision in the matter. And it is upon this theory and with this principle underlying, that our political structure was reared by the revolutionary sires of '76 and perpetuated by their sons to the present hour. Here in Utah one or more Church leaders dictate to the people who shall fill this office and who that. No opposing candidates have heretofore been tolerated against the favorites of the Church leaders; and if a growl of dissatisfaction escaped a citizen at the unfitness of the person or persons so thrust forth for public support, it was soon lost in the rumbling thunders of a threatened anathema. The majority do not govern here; it is the dignitaries of the Church who rule supreme and nominate, and in fact elect all officers; and the election law of Utah and its attendant, voting, is a delusion, a mockery and a snare. To more effectually spy upon the exercise of liberty of voting here, there is a law upon the statute books of this Territory, unknown elsewhere, requiring that the ballot of each voter is to be numbered before being deposited in the ballot box, to correspond with the number opposite the voter's name on the poll list. By this means the leaders are able to detect any exercise of a voter's rights in opposition to their will, and annoy and harrass (if not actually persecute) the unlucky innovator to the verge of the grave, with assurances that he will find no consolation on the other side of it, because of imagining himself an American citizen in Utah, and attempting to enjoy its privileges. Of course the timid and weak will never expose themselves to the terrible vengeance of the leaders by voting in accordance with their own sense of right and duty as citizens so long as they can be frightened by threats of perdition from mortals like themselves, who arrogate such admirable supernatural power as to be able to consign their fellows to pandemonium at every turn of a whim, frivolity or caprice. Well may the leaders exclaim:

"No nice distinction a true believer knows,
Bid him go to hell—to hell he goes."

Another feature in political affairs in Utah is a kind of pretended theocratic government, both in the making of laws and in the making of law-makers. Everything touching these things is done by order; and the majority—minorities here being unknown—are sure to ratify it, or have their salvation terribly impaired. The old saying of "render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's," is viewed as a good joke, and "My kingdom is not of this earth" is exquisite irony.

This attempt to unite Church and State must be reviewed with alarm. They must be kept aloof, and independent of each other. The Church can attend to the spiritual wants of its members, guiding their footsteps in Wisdom's ways, which are said to be pleasantness, and all her paths, peace. The State will be engaged on temporal affairs, teaching citizens how to govern and be governed, and fitting men to become free, honored, and intelligent members of the Great Republic which has demonstrated to the world that man is capable of self government.

I feel it my duty at this time, in connection with what I have already advanced, to declare that I am opposed to polygamy, root and branch, theoretically and practically. I see neither good morals, good taste, or good sense in that system. It is needless to argue, after eighteen hundred years experience in the Christian religion, and with a continuous succession back to the days of the Apostles, that this bantling of the "flesh," in Utah, is condemned by virtue, by reason, by religion both natural and revealed, by the intelligence and enlightenment of the age we live in. Every State of Europe and America condemns it as a crime, and punish with severe penalties those who practice it. It, if allowed to continue, in a few generations would sap the foundation of society, create a confusion that no remedy could quiet in the laws of descent and distribution of property, besides entailing the sensual lethargy and vices on their offspring that has been the bane of the Ottoman Empire for centuries. In no other part of the world where the doctrines of Mormonism are taught, is the frightful system of polygamy inflicted on society. It is not taught as a "divine institution" in England, Wales, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and the other European countries that supply the Church with recruits; nor is it held to be good by the Mormons in the States—east or west. Aye! thousands in your Church here, exemplary men and women, loathe and detest it. The American people loathe and detest it, and long since recognized it as a relic of barbarism, and branded it as a crime. Great God! is it to be endured that in the afternoon of the Nineteenth Century, with all the mellowing influences of science, civilization and Christianity softening the rough heart of man and elevating woman to her proper sphere, that we are to relapse into barbarism and ignorance, and woman be reduced to pander to sensualism? Is it to be endured that the dreadful alternatives, polygamy or prostitution, must be the inevitable lot of those who should be mothers in this happy land? Are the young men to understand that polygamy has an endearing charm for them, a softening influence, and that it is practiced by the Pi-Ute bucks, but more extensively by the degraded and dejected natives of the Sandwich Islands? Away with such trash! Such nonsense sickens!

I am equally opposed to the grand grasping monopolies granted to the Church and to Church leaders, by the Territorial Legislatures; as they impair—often destroy—competition, which is the soul of trade—cripple and curtail the rights of the people. And the practice of holding large tracts of the public domain by imaginary corporators or owners, without any title or evidence of possession, by actual improvements, to the exclusion of settlers, finds no favor with me. Thus far I hope my views may be neither misunderstood or maliciously misconstrued.

As a citizen of Utah I am in favor of the speedy completion of the Pacific Railroad across the continent, to and through Utah. I desire to see its valleys, from its temperate to its tropical clime, teeming with an industrious people, caressed by plenty and smiled upon by fortune, conscious of their rights and duties as citizens, and "knowing, dare maintain them!" I desire to see our hills and the sides of our mountains, covered with pastoral herds and flocks, lowing gratulations on the husbandmen in the valleys beneath. I want its rich mines of iron, lead, copper, coal, silver and gold developed, and the immense accruing advantages to revert advantageously and profitably to the people. I particularly would favor and foster the mercantile interests of this Territory, representing an actual capital of over three millions of dollars—full of life, enterprise, integrity and liberality—able to command a credit in the Eastern market of treble that sum, and a most powerful auxilliary in all the industrial resources of our valued Territory, and a genuine advocate of the people's prosperity.

To close, I am before you, soliciting your suffrage; with no hobby but my expressed views; no fears except when conscious of a wrong; asking no spiritual favors from any, but God; acknowledging no temporal authority but my Government; if elected I shall endeavor to truly represent the people of Utah in the Congress of the United States.

The Daily Union Vedette

Local and Miscellaneous.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The VEDETTE is the pioneer daily newspaper of Utah. Its extensive circulation in every mining camp and city of Montana and Idaho, over which it gives the telegraphic despatches a whole week ahead of the Pacific papers,) makes it the most advantageous medium for advertising in these four Central Territories.

THE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.—Some persons are very anxious to produce the impression, here and elsewhere, that the respectable body of citizens who recently, at a meeting publicly called for the purpose, nominated a prominent and worthy member of this community to represent the citizens of Utah in Congress, was intended as a farce. They even go farther, and with a pretense of knowledge, "behind the curtain," assert that the candidate, before election, will resign. As to the unworthy slur of his being made a "tool of," those who intend to support him assure us that when the result is known their earnest and honest intentions will be a full refutation of the charge. Mr. M'Grorty positively denies any intention to withdraw from the canvass, and it is to be expected that every citizen will be permitted to exercise his right to vote, and enjoy a privilege granted by the Constitution—the free and untrammeled exercise of the elective franchise. The friends of the candidate do not expect an overwhelming majority, but do believe that he will be our representative to the next Congress.

A WORK OF ART.—We were shown yesterday a beautiful and well executed work of art, by Professor Graves, formerly of London, England. It contains over sixty new and original designs, with over forty different kinds of letters, both ancient and modern. The ancient letters are taken from a collection of one hundred and nine alphabets, from manuscripts which are now in the British Museum. This ornamental specimen of pen-and-ink drawings shows designs of the blessings of the twelve tribes of Israel, and signs of heraldry, as described in the 49th chapter of the book of Genesis. The whole forms a grand tout ensemble which reflects credit on the executor of it, Professor Graves, and, what is remarkable, this wonderful piece of work was completed in sixteen days.

We were pleased to see a list of liberal contributions by many of our prominent merchants, to aid the Professor in the continuance of his labors, and enabling him to perfect these gems of art.

THE CONCERT.—Through the politeness of Bishop Woolley, we attended a concert on the evening of the 31st ult., in the Assembly Room of the 13th Ward, given by a number of amateur vocalists, male and female, not for profit or gain, but for social pastime. We passed a very pleasant evening, novel as the Concert was to us, being interspersed with talented musical and oratorical performances. During our stay, Elder Harrison and President Wells addressed the audience; and we should have been pleased to remain and listen to Bishop Woolley's remarks, had not business necessitated our absence before the exercises closed.

STAGE UPSET.—By private telegraph we learn that the Eastern coach, which left here on Wednesday last, in which Messrs. Weston, Comery and Munson were passengers, upset between this city and Weber. The dispatch says no bones (or bottles) were broken.

Arrivals and Departures.

To the North—L. Richardson, J. M. Pickett, Charles H. Price, A. Richardson.
From the North—A. Bernard, Mr. Otienheimer, J. Harris, W. R. Reynolds.

FROM THE WEST.

From the Sacramento Union.]

Yreka, January 22—5 P. M.

It has been raining and snowing for the last five days, and the rain continues to pour down. But little snow is falling, even on the highest mountains. We have no mail communication from the north or south. Small streams have assumed the dimensions of roaring torrents. The mountain gorges are pouring floods upon the valleys. Everything is afloat, and the windows of heaven are still open. Four Chinamen, who undertook to cross the mountains from Scott Valley to Sawyer's Bar, on Salmon river, got into the snow and were unable to travel. Two of them froze to death. One of them succeeded in getting back to Rough and Ready, and one is still missing. The missing one had with him seven thousand dollars worth of opium.

Toll House, Siskiyou Mountain,
January 21.

George Burse, sutler at Fort Klamath, who left that place January 9th, the day after the reported earthquake, says the whole thing was made out of whole cloth; that there is no such person as L. Tennyson at the fort, and that he thinks some of the soldiers who feel themselves humbugged in not being mustered out, set it up to humbug the world.

John J. Conmy, of the Shasta Courier, will be a candidate for State Printer at the coming Union Convention.

DIARY OF WILKES BOOTH.—The diary of Booth, taken from his body after his capture, is now in possession of the proper investigating committee, having been handed over to it by the authorities. For some reason its contents were not used on the trial. It shows that he was an agent of the Confederate Government, and received money from it, and that at one time at least the plan was to kidnap Mr. Lincoln. It is believed to implicate only Booth and Harrold in the assassination. An entry made on Friday, the 21st of April, one week after the murder, shows that it must have been written in a perfect agony of mind. It discloses his position, with a broken leg, in the midst of a swamp, alone, an outcast, an assassin, weighed down by his guilt and a feeling that God would refuse him forgiveness. It is altogether such a cry of human agony as seldom finds expression by words.

A BRIGHT YOUTH.—The Enterprise says: "There was a man in our town and he was wondrous wise," that is to say, a certain individual in this city, desiring to telegraph to parties in San Francisco, and not being conversant with the style of preparing telegrams got a friend who was better posted to write it out for him. The friend did so, but just as he finished it the other hastily remarked: "Hold on there, Jim, I'd better sign that myself, 'cause you see they know my signature down there; give me the pen." And he did sign it with the most business like air imaginable.

MORMON CHURCH.—We were informed by Mr. Lockwood, of Virginia City, that he was about to make arrangements with Elder Kimball to build a Mormon church some place in the vicinity of Virginia City. We believe, however, there are but few of that faith in that region, and we should advise the Elder and Mr. Lockwood to rent one of the old tunnels around Virginia, instead of building a temple.—Gold Hill News.
